SAN BRUNO, CA – September 13, 2010 – The City of San Bruno is providing this update regarding the Glenview Fire:

- Mayor Jim Ruane, City Manager Connie Jackson, Police Chief Neil Telford, US Congresswoman Jackie Speier and other officials met today with residents who had not yet returned to their homes. The private meeting lasted approximately two hours and described the safety precautions taken to ensure a safe site visit and the process for residents being allowed to visit their homes.
- Residents in homes that cannot be occupied will be escorted into the area today and tomorrow. Residents will be able to gather belongings and, with the assistance of San Bruno building officials, begin assessing what work must be completed in order for homes to be habitable. Residents were given disposable cameras and were encouraged to document the damage to share with their insurance companies.
- An official from San Mateo County Environmental Health advised residents on how to safely clean up ash both inside and outside their properties. He said the area has been tested for hazardous conditions and the area where residents are being allowed is not hazardous.
- Police Chief Neil Telford assured residents that a heavy police patrol presence is being provided in the neighborhood to assure the security of homes that are currently unoccupied.

- Mayor Jim Ruane announced that the City of San Bruno will waive all permit fees associated with repair and rebuilding the affected homes.

The City will continue to release updated information as it becomes available.
